[About use]

Users are required to pay the unit registration fee and attend a safety training session. In the lab animal rooms I and II, it is possible to use the facilities without paying the room fee (short-term use of up to 3 months). The cost of animal care, consumables and reagents for animal experiments are to be borne by the user.

[Procedure required]

Before using the Unit, please inquire with the IDRU management office about the availability of the facility. Please submit the completed "Application form for use of Infectious Disease Research Unit" to the IDRU management office at least one week before the date that user would like to use, along with a copy of the document certifying approval by the University of Miyazaki's Animal Experiment Committee. If you are handling pathogens or genetically modified organisms at this facility, you will need to attend education training held by the University and submit various notifications.
